Worksheet: Grid Drawing

Sixth Grade

Instructions:

By drawing what we see, instead of what we know about an object, we are able to focus on what it really looks like. We can also break our image down into a series of sections to make it easier to draw. Look at the following images in the grids. Your job is to carefully copy the image (piece by piece) from one section of the grid to another. Make sure that you are drawing what you see in the corresponding square of the grid.
